Expected That Prosecution of All
Stubborn Landlords Will Be Started

The last days of Wilei are nearing rapidly. The district judge, who has been with soldiers, the majority of whom have recently been paid, and by a number of interested civilians. The only quarters which remained open in the district were the quarters of the soldiers, who were the only ones who remained in the district. According to reports gathered yesterday, the majority of the girls are making arrangements to leave Honolulu for the mainland. It was said yesterday that one landlord advised the girls "to lay low," explaining that he had engaged counsel and would see that they could ply their profession without interference.

CERTIFICATE DENIED JAPANESE INFANT

Japanese children born in Hawaii but whose parents are not entitled to certificates of Hawaiian birth, according to a ruling made yesterday by Judge Warren Thayer, secretary of the Territory, in refusing to issue a certificate in the case of Shizu Kiyuna, three-year old son of Kamato Kiyuna. The father appeared before Thayer yesterday and asked for a certificate of birth for the youngest. In reply to questions he stated that he was sending the boy with his mother on the Perma Maru to Japan to see the child's grandfather and that he intended to let the youngster remain in the land of cherry blossoms for fifteen years. "I would rather have him stay in Japan until he is quite old," said the father. "Here is a case," said the secretary, "where a father comes right out and says he wants his son educated in Japan though born in America. My observations are that he will be a pretty poor American when he comes back." And Thayer refused to issue the certificate. He says he is willing to have the matter threshed out in the courts.

GREGORIO ENDOSO SLIPS FROM DEATH PENALTY

Gregorio Endoso, charged with first-degree murder, was found guilty of second-degree murder by a jury in Judge Ashford's court at half-past ten o'clock last night and will be sentenced at nine o'clock tomorrow morning to life imprisonment. The case was on trial Thursday and yesterday. It went to the jury at four-thirty yesterday afternoon. The jury recommended the limit, which under the law is life sentence. This of course was unnecessary. Endoso admitted shooting and killing a fellow-Filipino, while the two were passengers in an auto bus at Kalaheo, Kauai, on August 22, last. He claimed self-defense, however, saying that Pedro Nolasco, the murdered man, had been following and threatening him with his life. Apparently, the jury believed the self-defense story and found accordingly. The defense, represented by Attorney William J. Sheldon, offered at the outset to enter a plea of guilty to murder in the second degree. This offer was scorned by City Attorney Brown, who stated what the Territory would seek a capital or death verdict.

KAUAI SCHOOLS HAVE ENROLMENT OF 4285

According to official figures which have been sent to the department of public instruction by Miss Bernice E. L. Hurdley, supervising principal, the twenty government schools in Kauai showed a total enrolment of 4285 students at both ends up to last Friday. The Kauai High School, established at Lihue, the county seat, has now forty-one students taking the higher courses. In the first grades of the Kauai government schools there are enrolled 1206. The eighth grades have a total of seventy-four students. The school at Kapaa has the highest enrolment, 673 pupils attending this institution. George S. Raymond, inspector general of schools, believes the Kauai enrolment will remain at about these figures for the balance of the school year.

KONA PUPILS NOTE INCREASE IN BIRTHS

Big Island School Paper Putting
Hookena and West Hawai
On World Map

The children of the Hookena School, Kona, Hawaii, are being educated gradually as newgatherers and country newspaper men and women. The following is from the Hookena Mite of last Friday:

Mr. Minnie, 24, gave birth to a baby girl on Friday, October 28. On October 29 Josephine Kailponi gave birth to a baby boy.

Mr. Joseph Manning, our tenant, gave birth to a baby girl on October 24. Sheriff Samuel K. Pua and Deputy Sheriff S. Lazo left here for Kailua on October 21.

Mr. Napunawai, who has been in Honolulu for some time, returned to Kona on Saturday, October 21. Misses Hannah and Rose Kainono, who have been in Kona for a month, returned to Kona on Sunday, October 22.

By Room II. Attorney A. G. Correa was here from Hilo on October 22. Our county attorney, W. H. Berra, passed here for Kailua to attend the jury on October 23.

At Honolulu, on October 19, Mr. and Mrs. Basknight welcomed the arrival of their first child, a baby girl. Among the passengers from Honolulu to Kona on October 21 were Mr. Magoon, A. C. Dowsett, Mr. Ahuna and W. N. Panikula.

By Room III. The people are very busy picking coffee. Two automobiles with passengers passed our way last Tuesday for the jury.

Owing to the heavy crop of coffee, some children have been staying to help their parents pick coffee. Mr. Oyama and his driver have been very busy in hauling coffee to Mr. Lihue.

Some of the shady kukui trees on our school land have been trimmed so that the sun may reach the coffee trees. The pupils of the Japanese School are learning how to play drums, flutes and accordions for the celebration next month.

Invitations by the Japanese School for the celebration on November 3 have been printed by our shop in English and Hawaiian.

Samuel Kaunahu, chairman of the board of supervisors, returned from Kohala last Monday on his way to Kona.

A large amount of dry was was shipped from Hookena on the last trip of the Kilauea. Some say that it is to be used for medical purposes.

The Japanese School of Hookena will hold the ceremony of the act of nominating an heir apparent to the throne of Japan on Friday, November 3, at eleven a. m.

Rev. J. M. Kamoku, the lone Democrat candidate for representative, delivered his last political speech in South Kona at the Hookena Booth last Wednesday afternoon. He urged the voters to send him to the legislature so that the people may have good laws.

Word was received from Fred Waldron yesterday that the mammoth liner Great Northern, with a delegation from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce aboard, would be stopped long enough outside the harbor to allow Mayor John C. Lane, members of the board of supervisors and a committee from the local chamber of commerce to board her. The welcoming party will be taken out to the liner in a launch.

Mayor Lane has ordered through his secretary, Edward K. Woodward, a large key to be made of gold, bearing for a suitable inscription, which his Honor will present to the distinguished visitors. The key is to be nearly three feet long and will be emblematic of the hospitality of Honolulu.

The local chamber of commerce delegation which will meet the Great Northern upon its arrival on November 14 will include A. L. Castle and Secretary Raymond C. Brown.

By Room IV. NIPPON MARU COMING FOUR DAYS DELAYED. News comes that the Nippon Maru, of the T. K. K. line, which was to have left Yokohama last Saturday, has postponed her departure four days, and will sail only last Wednesday for Honolulu. The liner will arrive here November 11.

Another murder case will go to trial today. Judge Ashford's trial jury are to answer roll-call at nine o'clock this morning. The case is against a man charged with killing his step-father-in-law.

HAMAKUA DROUGHT BROKEN. Wireless messages received by Theo. H. Davies & Company yesterday report one and a half inches of rain through out the district Tuesday. This change in the weather is the best news that has come from windward Hawaii in several weeks, having been badly needed between Laupahoehoe and Kukuihaele.

SEVEN THOUSAND MILES FOR SWIM

New York Clubman in Private
Yacht Comes To Test
Waikiki Surf

Shortly over a month ago Alexander Smith Cochran picked up a magazine in his New York club and read therein of the delights of bathing at Waikiki.

Yesterday, a solitary passenger on the half-million dollar yacht Warrior, arrived in Honolulu harbor for his swim.

To get it he crossed seven thousand miles of water and three seas. The appearance of the beautiful craft off Waikiki yesterday, at noon, created a ripple of excitement on the waterfront, for the yacht was not a good and heavy competitor.

Yacht Warrior, a two-masted, one-hundred-and-fifty-ton vessel, was made for her berth. Pilot Madden took her to Pier 15 and then she was.

Owner and Crew Only. Besides the crew of thirty-nine men and his officers, Mr. Cochran is the only person on the vessel. He is owner of the Warrior, and he is previously the property of William K. Vanderbilt, and since the purchase of the New York Yacht Club. Two-masted, one-hundred-and-fifty-ton vessel, was made for her berth.

No one was allowed on board yesterday. The yacht glided into the harbor beautifully, but with not a soul in sight on her decks except the crew handling her.

"I have no plans," said Mr. Cochran, in answer to questions, yesterday. "I hardly knew I was coming here and I don't know when I'll leave or where I'll go when I do. Please say as little about me as you can."

Beautiful Sea Home. His eyes lit up at mention of the yacht. He cared more about mention of her than of himself.

His pride in his vessel was evident, not only from his own mention of her, but in the aptness in which she has been kept.

The Warrior is the largest yacht which has entered Honolulu harbor, measuring 298 feet over all and registering 1060 tons gross. Her lines are exceedingly graceful and sheer. She is a coal burner.

Mr. Cochran has gathered a fine set of officers who did the courtesies of the vessel yesterday pleasantly and simply. They are N. A. Tort, master; J. Swanson, chief engineer; J. M. Dickson, second officer; M. Dickson, third officer; George Carlson, third engineer; and F. Callaghan, fourth engineer.

One Month Out. The Warrior left New York just thirty-one days previous to arriving here, making the leg of the voyage from Riohava in eighteen. Mr. Cochran remarked yesterday on an especially fine trip from which he had previously banished each of any sort, and from which he abolished formality and convention.

The sides of the yacht are covered with spots where they have been struck by flying fish and seals could be picked off them at pleasure yesterday.

Mr. Cochran's sister, a Mrs. Bowen, was a guest at the Moana Hotel last winter.

OVER THE RIVER
A GOOD COMEDY
Ingersoll Musical Comedy Company Is Making Good Quickly

Reminiscences of the "Man from Mexico" are incorporated in "Over the River," the present offering of the Ingersoll comedians shown at the Bijou last night for the first of four performances.

The anonymous author, however, threw in good measure with the original idea, involving wife as well as husband in complications which furnished a very respectable plot. The plot, as the program announced and the reality confirmed, had "musical trimmings."

Frank Vack was the husband and a good part of the show. Jeanne Maki was the wife, a very acceptable reason why the indiscretions of the other half should be disguised by a trip "Over the River," which was, however, the Hudson and not the Rio Grande.

Dan Kelly played the friend who "fixed it" for hubby, with such good intentions that hubby did thirty days on Blackwell's Island.

The program was generous with musical numbers ranging from strathspeys in Scotch to the torch-songs of Eddy Young made the two biggest musical hits of the evening and were brought back twice for more by the audience.

GEORGE DAVIS IS BACK IN TRENCHES
George Davies, of Honolulu, who left here to join the British army and is now a captain, is once more back in the trenches, according to word received here yesterday.

Mr. Davies recently spent three months in the trenches, where he saw service of the most arduous and exciting nature. He was then detached on special service and spent five weeks in the advanced school for the instruction of officers. Having completed this phase of his military life, he has now returned to the rear and imminent danger of constant battle.

GUARD WILL CAMP WITH REGULAR ARMY

Territorial Employees Granted
Leave of Absence For Real
Soldier Service

All national guardsmen who are employed by the territory will be given leave of absence, with full pay, to attend the joint encampment with troops of the regular army at Red Hill from November 19 to 25. This is in accordance with a request made in writing by Governor Pinkham to the heads of all territorial departments.

Reports are also to the effect that private employers of members of the national guard are generally showing a willingness to cooperate with the government by releasing their men to attend the encampment.

Governor Pinkham in his letter to his subordinates says: "In accordance with the general policy of the administration," says the letter, "and in consideration for the sentiment throughout the territory for a thoroughly efficient National Guard for local and national defense and good order, it is desired that all employees of the territory who are members of the National Guard participating in this encampment, be granted leaves of absence for the time required for this important military training."

"Leaves of absence for the purpose of military training will be with full pay."

"Heads of departments are directed to cooperate to the fullest extent possible."

USED RIFLE TO KILL HERSELF
Mrs. Harold Jeffs Ends Life—
Had Papers For Second
Divorce Prepared

In a room in which her two children were sleeping, Mrs. Harold Jeffs shot and killed herself early yesterday morning by firing a bullet from a 22-caliber rifle into her brain at her home at 1381 Bereanina Street. Dr. George Herbert was summoned, but the injured woman was beyond medical aid and died shortly after her arrival. An inquest conducted by Deputy Sheriff Julius Asch will be held at ten o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Jeffs was the wife of Harold Jeffs, a local barber. She was forty years old and the mother of two children, a girl aged nine and a boy six.

According to the story of the shooting which was told to Deputy Sheriff Asch by Jeffs, the latter called the children to breakfast about six o'clock. When he stepped into his room, he saw his wife lying on the bed with the rifle muzzle against her temple.

"I could probably have taken the gun away from her then," said Jeffs. "But I didn't think she would shoot so I went into another room. There I heard the pop of the gun. When I saw that she had shot herself I ran for a doctor."

About three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Jeffs were divorced, only to marry the next day. Jeffs told the police yesterday that his wife was preparing to file a divorce suit against him and in fact had consulted an attorney who was to draw up the papers in the suit.

Mrs. Jeffs was a native of New York. English burial services will be held for her at the funeral home at two o'clock this afternoon. The body will be buried in Nuanuan cemetery.

MISSOURI PACIFIC IS ADVERTISING ISLANDS
The November edition of the Missouri Pacific bulletin is practically a Hawaiian number, according to a letter received yesterday by the promotion committee from C. S. Moore, passenger traffic manager of the railroad.

Word was also received that both the Southern Pacific bulletin and that issued by the Chicago Northwestern largely feature Hawaii and the February carnival.

NEW PHOTOGRAPHS OF HONOLULU WANTED

The need of a "photographic survey" of Hawaii was suggested yesterday at the offices of the promotion committee, where it was said that main land publications in letters to the committee have complained that the Hawaiian photographs which they have been able to obtain do not come up to the verbal and written descriptions of the Islands.

The photographers of Honolulu, it was said, have so much business now that they are no longer able to get out into the country with their cameras as they once could. The result is that the old stock pictures are being used over and over, although there are thousands of scenes that, if photographed, might better depict the beauties of the country.

The matter is being discussed of having some photographer of national reputation come to Hawaii, look at the country with eyes not blinded by familiarity, and establish a new and better standard of photographic description of the Islands.

Two prisoners of the county jail, weary of the monotony of serving jail and working in the city parks, stole the automobile of A. E. Vierra, superintendent of public parks, and after a joy ride visited a lagoon.

When the car was found by Vierra, on Hotel Street, Antonio Correa Bettencourt, intoxicated, was at the wheel, with A. Ramos, a Porto Rican, as a passenger. The car had evidently been in a collision. The fender and headlights were smashed and the axle bent.

The automobile was taken from in front of the Central Grammar School, where Mr. Vierra was superintending the prisoners at work, at eleven o'clock in the morning, and recovered at about three o'clock in the afternoon.

When the prisoners were brought to the police station Bettencourt said that he was not sure where they had gone, but remembers Bettencourt driving up a narrow lane, where a party drinking beer and wine was gathered.

This, he says, was where Bettencourt became intoxicated. Jailor Joe Fern will relieve the two journeymen of any future chance to "cop" their keeper's automobile.

Having cancelled his sailing by way of the Panama Canal as he intended, W. L. Smith, a Pittsburgh capitalist, has decided to come to Hawaii in the steamship Great Northern in February. He formerly planned to come here in his private yacht with a party of friends.

Manuel Martinez Santos, of Waiala Road, near First Avenue, was severely injured yesterday afternoon when he was caught between a rock-carrying elevator at the Honolulu Construction and Draying Company's crushing plant, at the corner of Kapahulu and Waiala Roads. He was taken to The Queen's Hospital. His recovery is doubtful.

Examination showed that he suffered two deep lacerations, serious bruises about the body and internal injuries. According to the police reports, Santos was adjusting a belt on the elevator buckets which carry rock, when the machinery started. His clothes were caught in the belt and before the power could be shut off he was crushed against the overhead platform.
